HOW DOES IT WORK

1

DEFINE THE LIST OF CONTROL POINTS

Bureau Veritas will support you in the design of the checklist that will be used by our auditors. It has to include all the items to control in order to ensure compliance with good hygiene practices, social distancing, and all other recommendations of the authorities and appropriate regulations in force at the time of the audit to control the risk of Covid-19 contamination. You can either use Bureau Veritas' ready-to-use checklists or customize them to get your own customized checklists.

2

CONDUCT THE AUDIT

Bureau Veritas offers the possibility to conduct both remote audits and/or field audits. Thanks to our best-in-class digital solutions, remote audits can be a first efficient step prior to the reopening of places. It can then be combined with field audits to check that the expected protective measures are implemented efficiently. Bureau Veritas' network of auditors in more than 140 countries is particularly adapted to serve large networks to be audited in the world.

3

GRANT THE LABEL

You can decide to use Bureau Veritas' standard label or to design your own label with a dedicated branding*. Bureau Veritas will then decide to grant the label after an independent verification done by a duly qualified auditor.

4

CONSOLIDATE ALL THE GRANTED LABELS AND AUDIT REPORTS IN ONE SINGLE REPOSITORY

All the results of our audits will be gathered in an official central repository where the data will be available for you. Bureau Veritas will ensure its monitoring to check that only valid labels are displayed. You can easily connect your systems with them to use that information in your own websites or applications (open data model).
